

A Scale-Aware Representation of Convection in the GEOS Model

These snapshots demonstrate the representation of convective clouds in GEOS from simulated infrared brightness temperatures using the COSP ISCCP satellite simulator compared with observed data [lower right].